

John Knotek, InsurePay

John is the Vice President Payments of InsurePay, a company dedicated to simplifying insurance billing and payments throughout North America. John spent seventeen years in the financial services sector in a wide variety of roles in commercial banking. For seven of these years, John managed the industry leading banking program for P&C Insurance brokerages at Bank of Montreal, working extensively with brokerages and insurance companies on acquisitions and successions of brokerages.

During this time an issue surfaced that the ongoing heavy costs and security issues associated with brokers usage of cheques, disparate reporting and carrier's manual reconciliation needed a solution. After whiteboarding ideas for a period of time, John co-founded ClearPay together with a number of industry veterans. Earlier in 2022, ClearPay was acquired by InsurePay. John continues to participate in a number of conferences and forums to make payments efficient and effective for the insurance industry.